Garage Destroyed by Fire Starting From Rubbish Blaze Monday

A garage on the Marcel Kulp farm at Loom Lake was destroyed by fire at 2:15 p. m. Monday as the result of flames spreading from a garbage pile on the adjoining property of William Weisenborn, according to Antioch firemen.

The fire department found the garage past saving and turned the hose on a hayloft just outside the building in saving it, and keeping the flames from spreading into a small grain field.

Chief Edgar Simonsen said the garbage fire was in violation of the district fire ordinance. Just what the fire district will do is not yet known, but Kulp called sheriff's police and is said to plan a civil suit.

The property involved is on the south shore of the lake.

Chief of Police Walter Scott and Fireman James Mapletorpe, put out a fire that started in the rear seat of the automobile of Glen Noble of Fox Lake in down town Antioch at 10:15 p. m. Sunday.

The fire department was called to the J. Ruhl farm on Edwards rd. Saturday but found that the fire was extinguished before it arrived. The fire started from defective wiring in an attic.

A grass fire in the Minto subdivision last Thursday drew the attention of Antioch firemen.

Men of Community Are Urged to Attend Squad Stag Party on Monday

One way of measuring interest of the community in the Antioch Township High School football squad will be the attendance Monday evening at the football stag party at the school building.

Fathers of players and all other men of the district anxious for the success of the school in football this year are invited by the coaching staff to be present at 8 p. m. Monday for a social evening and to see movies of the Wisconsin-Southern California Rose Bowl game. Refreshments will be served.

"We hope to make it a real 'back-the-team get-together,'" said Coach Paul Kessenich. "If the boys are made aware that the men of the community are interested in their success, I'm sure they will do a better job."

Last year some of the fathers didn't attend the meeting and there was much disappointment.

Sequoia Varsity Has First Scrimmage and Intensifies Practice

With the opening of school, the Antioch Township High School's football squad settled down to regular and intensive practice in readiness for a good start when the season opens next week.

Coach Paul Kessenich put his squad through its first scrimmage last Saturday and while it was considered a fairly successful scrimmage, the coach found much to be desired of some players who missed their assignments.

Monday was declared a day off, but practice was resumed Tuesday with the issuance of new plays and work on the pass defense. Play got rougher as the week progressed and on Saturday afternoon there will be scrimmage again.

The squad will be taken to Chicago tomorrow evening to see the Chicago Bears and Cleveland Browns game. The trip will be made in the school bus leaving at 6 p. m.

Fresh-Soph Practice
The fresh-soph squad under the coaching of Robert Lambert is busy learning fundamentals, and while the less experienced players are slower than the varsity in getting started, it is expected that the underclassmen will be ready when they meet Waukegan frosh-soph in the preliminary to the varsity-Wilmot game next week.

Leaka Apartments Are Fire Hazards Rather Than Health - Rosing

The Antioch Township health board headed by Supervisor W. A. Rosing inspected the farm rental properties of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Leaka on Edwards rd. one-half mile east of Rte. 45 and found them bad, but not of such nature that the board could act on health grounds.

Rosing said he will refer the matter to the fire marshal on grounds that the places are fire hazards.

The supervisor said the board did order the construction of an outdoor toilet stopped and ordered the landlord to install an indoor toilet. Six families used two outdoor toilets.

Rosing said they found a 6-room residence divided into three two-room apartments and a family comprising the parents and six children living in one of them. In another apartment of the same house a man and his sister-in-law and a working daughter sleep in one room.

A 16x20 garage was made into a three-room apartment where a family of six live.

A barn was made into two apartments, one of which has two rooms and one of the two has no window. Because the child in the home was not made to sleep in this room, Rosing said he could not act. The other apartment has two rooms and seven barn windows.

The barn apartments have the barn door, Rosing said.

The families are southerners who are employed as laborers. Their apartments rent as high as $50 it is said.

Board Seeks to Sell Voters on Need of a Higher Co. Tax Rate

The task of selling the people of Lake county on the importance of the forthcoming referendum to increase the county's general fund tax rate was launched this week by members of the county board of supervisors.

The date for the special election has been set for Tuesday, Sept. 29 and all of the county's 135 voting precincts will be open.

The supervisors will ask the voters to approve an increase in the tax rate of one and a half cents per $100 of assessed valuation, which will mean an increase of $1.50 on a $10,000 home.

Commenting on the importance of the increase Tuesday, Supervisor Emmett Moroney, of Deerfield Township, chairman of the Board's finance committee, said "The people of the county have shown a willingness in recent years to grant repeated increases to the schools, but they fail to realize that if the county doesn't receive enough money, the taxes voted for the schools cannot be extended and collected."

The extension of taxes is just one of many jobs financed from the county's general fund.

Need Highway Patrols
The steadily rising toll of traffic accidents, points up the need for increased highway patrol which would be paid from the general fund.

The state's attorney's office, the courts, the county hospital, and county home, and the office of the superintendent of schools are other county activities directly affecting most of the people of the county which are paid for from the general fund.

The proposed increase would mean an increase in revenue for the county of approximately $90,000 which will enable the county to maintain its present level of service and provide for an increase in the services in the future.

Civic League Approves
The Lake County Civic League a taxpayers organization, and the Lake County Farm Bureau have announced their support of the tax increase and other organizations throughout the county are also supporting the boost.

The county board appropriated $1,178,480 for the fiscal year ending Nov. 30, 1952.

Fees, licenses, and earnings of the fee-earning offices accounted for $651,200, leaving $527,280 to be derived from taxes.

The present tax rate of .047 cents per $100 of assessed valuation multiplied by the county valuation of approximately $636,000,000 produced a tax revenue for the general fund of approximately $240,000.

"The gap between what we can get from taxes and what the county needs to operate must be closed," Moroney asserted.

Economic Highlights

"Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

So states the First Amendment to the Constitution. This is the guarantee that we may say and print what we believe to be true, and that in addition we have the right to attempt to convert other people to our ideas—in other words, to influence public opinion.

Even so, a general statement of principle no matter how unequivocal is subject to interpretation when a specific instance is involved. A case which was just decided by the supreme court—and which may have historic significance—is in point here.

In 1950 a House of Representatives committee conducted an investigation of lobbying. Among the witnesses summoned was Dr. Edward A. Rumley, executive secretary of an organization known as the Committee for Constitutional Government. This organization had published and sold books which were extremely critical of New Deal philosophies, policies and acts. Dr. Rumley was ordered to disclose the names of people who had bought books to the value of $500 or more. He refused. The House, by a narrow vote which generally followed partisan lines, cited him for contempt of Congress. He was found guilty in a Federal District court and sentenced to a $1,000 fine and a six-months prison sentence, the latter being suspended. Dr. Rumley appealed, and the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed his conviction, citing the First Amendment. The Government then took the case to the Supreme Court.

A short time ago this court of last resort held, by a 7 to 0 vote, that the resolution under which the lobbying committee acted did not empower an investigation into publishing activities. But Justice Douglas, with Justice Black concurring, went much farther in a separate opinion. He dealt with the constitutional issue involved. Here, in part, is what he said: "If the present inquiry were sanctioned the press would be subjected to harassment that in practical effect might be as serious as censorship . . . A requirement that a publisher disclose the identity of those who buy his books, pamphlets, or papers is indeed the beginning of surveillance of the press."

"The finger of Government leveled against the press is ominous. Once the government can demand of a publisher the names of the purchasers of his publications, the free press as we know it disappears.

"Then the spectre of a government agent will look over the shoulder of everyone who reads. The purchase of a book or pamphlet today may result in a subpoena tomorrow. . . . The books and pamphlets that are critical of the administration, that preach an unpopular policy in domestic or foreign affairs, that are in dispute in the orthodox school of thought will be suspect and subject to investigation."

If the lady from Toledo can be required to disclose what she read yesterday and what she will read tomorrow, fear will take the place of freedom in the libraries, bookstores, and homes of the land. Through the harassment of hearings, investigations, reports, and subpoenas, government will hold a club over speech and over the press."

Justice Douglas' opinion did not make many headlines. But it may be remembered long after some of the best-publicized events of today are forgotten.

Constantly Better Medical Care

A short time ago the eighth national Conference on Rural Health was held in Virginia, under the sponsorship of the American Medical Association. The meeting drew more than 800 representatives of medical, agricultural, university extension services and other groups with a combined membership of several millions. Forty-two states and the District of Columbia were represented. And the gist of the reports and statements made, is that medical care facilities in rural areas are increasing rapidly through cooperative, voluntary efforts of medical, farm and community groups.

Some extremely important talks were made. As an example, many people have felt that a main step in bettering rural medical care is simply to increase the number of doctors graduated by our medical schools, on the theory that many of them would establish rural practices. This idea was tellingly refuted by the president of the AMA, who said, "A physician who has spent eight to thirteen years of his life in being trained to practice modern medicine is not willing to settle in an area where there are no facilities for practicing such a type of medicine. Increasing the number of physicians will not do it, as they would still tend to congregate in cities." He pointed out that in some states the problem has been solved by the community providing medical facilities and then permitting the doctor to rent or buy them. Then needed physicians have been obtained. In these days of good roads and automobiles every community does not need a hospital as long as one is available within a reasonable distance.

The big point is that tremendous progress in solving rural medical care is being made by voluntary action. We don't need government to tell us how to do it—or to attempt to do it for us.

Controlled CROP DRYING gives you..

these BIG HARVESTING BENEFITS

Extra BUSHELS PER ACRE

You can harvest early... when stalks are up and picker can get all the ears. Avoids losses from shattering and lodging.

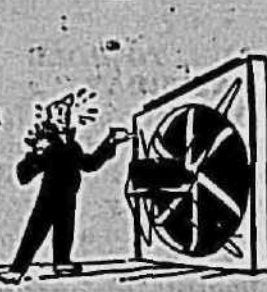

Safe STORAGE

Forced air drying eliminates mold, keeps up nutritive value... reduces need for supplements.

Flexible HARVESTING AND MARKETING

When you make your own curing weather, your crop can be harvested and sold early, or can be safely stored for later, more profitable markets.

Batch-type heated air drying system.

Crib drying with natural air.

Additional yields, safe storage, and top prices are but a few of the many harvesting benefits which are yours when you artificially dry your crops with either heated or unheated air.

If you use a picker-sheller, forced air drying with heated air saves time and work by streamlining your harvest operation so you can pick, shell, and dry in one continuous, economical operation.

If you dry ear corn, an unheated air drying system—using a fan, motor, and simple duct system—will do the job safely and economically.

Both systems make crop drying profitable because crops can be harvested and stored with higher feed values, thus reducing the need for supplements.

A wide variety of safe and efficient crop dryers is available for use with cribs, bins, and special structures. Your local Ag Engineer will gladly assist you in the selection of the crop dryer most suitable for your harvesting operation. His competent advice, based upon the design and installation of hundreds of northern Illinois crop drying systems, is yours for the asking.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

Save with a CROP DRYER as you pay! Convenient Payment Plan Available!

Don't forget... you can use your crop dryer for all types of grains... for hay... and even for ventilating your dairy barn!

Church Leader to Speak At Methodist Youth Banquet Next Tuesday

A banquet to which all sixth, seventh, and eighth grade pupils, and all high school students of the community not members of other church groups are invited, will be given at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 15 by the Methodist Youth Fellowship at Wesley hall, Methodist church.

The Antioch Troop No. 92 Boy Scouts of America will hold its first fall meeting at the scout house this Friday at 7 p. m.

All scouts of the troop are requested to wear their uniforms and to bring in any interested boys who are not yet members. Funeral Held Monday For Verna Hartnell, Resident of Salem

Mrs. Verna B. Hartnell, 77, Salem, Wis., passed away September 4 at 12:20 at the Burlington Memorial hospital, following five months of illness. Mrs. Hartnell was born May 29, 1876 at Lewiston, Minn. She moved to Salem with her parents, Monroe and Jane Wicks, at the age of seven and lived in Salem the remainder of her life.

She taught in the West Kenosha County public schools before her marriage to Arthur Hartnell in October 1897. For 21 years they made their home on a farm north of Brass Ball Corners previous to moving to the village of Salem. They enjoyed 54 years of wedded life prior to his death Sept. 4, 1952.

Previous to her ill health she had taken an active part in several garden clubs, and grew many beautiful flowers at her home, which was known as Iris Garden.

Survivors are one son, Eugene H. Hartnell of Salem, a sister, Mrs. Vera Epping of Kenosha, a granddaughter and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services conducted by the Rev. Robert Smith of the Salem Methodist church were held at 2:30 Monday at the Strang Funeral home. Interment was in Salem Mound cemetery.

Fred Kimley, Former Resident of Antioch Dies in Chicago

Funeral services for Fred Kimley, former Antioch resident who died Sept. 2 at his Chicago home, were held Saturday at Mount Greenwood cemetery. All Resorts Report Good Summer Business Resort owners in the Chain O' Lakes area report this summer's business was excellent. Most of the cottages were filled all of the time.

The beaches at Cedar Lake, Lake Villa drew thousands of bathers and picnickers, especially during the two weeks of hot weather.

The beaches closed on Labor Day and most of the vacationers returned to the city because of the opening of school.

The resorts will continue to be open to hunters and ice fishermen.

Final Wrestling Show Of Season Friday at Round Lake Park Arena

The final big wrestling show of the summer season in Round Lake Park, Ill., will take place Friday night, and two of the top maulers in the business are headlined on this Fred Kohler production.

Pat O'Connor, the New Zealand star who came to this country three years ago to create a mighty reputation, will face ornery Art Nielsen of Atlanta, Ga. The latter was even jeered out of his own city for his brash ways. He has sent some 20 men to hospitals. He weighs 240. But O'Connor, a 230-pound scientific merchant, can use a drop-kick and airplane spin that Nielsen has not seen before. O'Connor learned his kicking skills from the kangaroos back home. His family owns a 7000 acre ranch near Wellington, New Zealand, but instead of ranching, Patrick became a rugby and wrestling star, winning the British heavyweight crown. His popularity in the U. S. is attested by the 1,000 or more fan letters he gets weekly.

Another sturdy bout on the final show will find Rocky Columbo and Milt Olson taking on Japan's brutal Tor "The Great" Yamato and partner Zack Malkov in a tag match. Then there's the introduction of Pierre LaBelle, handsome Frenchman who faces Baron Arena of Italy in the opening match at 8:30 p. m.

SHORT STORY

The Present

By Henry C. Suter

SINCE Saturday had come around once more, Henry's wallet in due course of events received its weekly quota of plasma. This always caused Henry to feel his tenderness leaning towards generosity. Some gift to gladden the little woman's heart.

Now, what shall he buy her? He pondered over and over, candy, a black nightgown, flowers, a black nightgown, some dainty toiletry, a black nightgown. Surely, that would be his gift, he finally decided.

—a black nightgown. Why hadn't he decided this at first? Since upon further consideration, Henry realized that candy is soon demolished, stockings run, flowers fade, but a black nightgown can be lasting—and since it was black—didn't even need to wash it.

Henry's heart began to beat a little faster now that the decision was made.

As Henry hid himself to the shopping center, he had a vision of the little woman clothed in its awesome texture, exotic, mystifying, appealing. He planned to be present at that effective moment, midnight would be that precise moment. Midnight, when the witches flit across the sky, and the moon even seems to be resting over the sleeping world.

Henry was looking into that same window of the Exclusive Lingerie Shoppe at the very gown

At last she found words and tremblingly muttered, "I wouldn't be found dead in this shameful thing!"

he now intended to purchase, so enhancing, so revealing, it looked like a screen door with fillgree upon its top.

He had no sooner entered, and declared his desire to give the little woman a present of some kind, when the saleslady suggested a black nightgown might be satisfactory. Henry agreed this would be quite practicable, not knowing that she had observed him eyeing such an article in the window. She also took what seemed to Henry a long time in gift-wrapping the package. It also seemed hours to him before he could get to the door.

At last he reached home. The dear little woman was finishing the evening chores. Henry quietly slipped up to her side, kissed the nape of her neck and was about to pinch her cheeks. She turned and without a word, sniffed at Henry's breath, thinking he had been taking a shot or perhaps two—but found she had been wrong in her surmising. Of course she realized that it was payday for him, and well, you know how fellows get together over a glass on paydays. But Henry had opened his wallet and paid out into her hand calmly and collected his usual weekly allowance.

It was hours later, and those hours had proven much longer in their passing to Henry, than they had ever passed before. At last came that witching moment—the climax to all of Henry's waiting.

The house was quiet. With a benign smile and a full heart of love, Henry brought forth the present and gave it to the little woman.

She was delighted at his consideration and paid a tribute to his thoughtfulness. She gayly unwrapped the silken bands that bound it, and hesitantly opened the cover. A look of astonishment crept across her face. To Henry it was that happy, happy hour for which he had waited so long. She held up the garment by its filmy fillgree strands, gazing upon it in amazement.

At last she found words and tremblingly muttered: "I wouldn't be found dead in this shameful thing!"

It has been two years since, but Henry declares it has been the making of a fine polishing rag for the old jalopy. It never shows the dirt and he is willing to bet his last dollar, just for vanity's sake that nobody else ever cleaned a car with a black nightgown.

NEW DISCOVERY PROTECTS HEATING OIL TANKS FROM RUST, LEAKS, CORROSION

Longer Life for Your Home Oil Tanks

The main cause of leaks in your oil storage tank is the rust and corrosion which form inside the tank. Corrosion and rust, which eat through metal, are caused by the normal accumulation of moisture in the tank. For years the oil heat industry has been searching for a solution to this problem.

Now, the Shell Oil Company has the answer!

It's SONITOR—a new chemical product that protects against rust and corrosion from the moment it is placed in your tank. SONITOR not only stops old rust from spreading, but prevents new rust from forming. If added in time, it can double the life of your fuel tank.

We are happy to offer this amazing protection for storage tanks to all our customers—without extra charge. If you are not one of our customers, we shall be glad to supply you with premium-quality Shell Heating Oils—and give your tank SONITOR protection.

ROADMASTER
DESIGN BUILT BY BUICK

To you who have yet to drive a 1953 Buick ROADMASTER, we have this to say:

There is waiting for you at the wheel of this car a tremendously satisfying experience—the most magnificent Buick motoring experience of the past half century.

We say this as a matter of straight and simple fact.

For in this automobile—the smoothest-riding, the most maneuverable, and the most instantly responsive ROADMASTER in history—is an engine unlike any other in the world, plus an automatic transmission of similar uniqueness.

Here, you command the first Fireball V8 Engine—the world's first V8 with vertical valves—the modern and advanced V8 with the highest horsepower ever placed in a Buick, and the highest compression on the American scene today.

Here, you command distance through the liquid grace of Twin-Turbine Dynaflo—where getaway response is instant and quiet, and power build-up is infinitely, utterly smooth.

Here too, you take a new step forward in fine-car motoring—in the luxury of your ride, the luxury of your surroundings, the luxury of your control, with Power Steering standard equipment at no extra cost.

We can give you the details, the reasons, the facts.

But—wouldn't you rather learn the sum total of such things in a road sampling of the greatest ROADMASTER yet built?

We'll be happy to arrange matters. Why not visit us soon?

*Available at additional cost on Roadmaster and Super models only. Optional at extra cost in Super and Roadmaster Super and Riviera models.
